

L. V. &amp; E. T. BLUM,

PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

TERMS: CASH IN ADVANCE.

One Copy one year, . . . . . $1.00
" " six months, . . . . . 75
" " three " . . . . . 50

The People's Press.

Devoted to Politics, Literature, Agriculture, the Markets and General Information.

VOL. XXIX.

SALEM N. C., NOVEMBER 3, 1881.

NO. 43.

Life's True Significance.
Deeper than the sense of seeing Lies the secret source of all.
And the soul with truth abiding,
Leaves to live in thoughts and deeds;
For the life is more than rainment,
And the earth is pledged for payment;
Unto man for all his needs.

Nature is our common mother,
Every living man our brother;
Therefore let us serve each other;
Not to meet the law's behests,
But because through cheering giving
We shall learn the art of living;
And to live and serve is best.

Life is more than man fancies !
Not a game of idle chance;
But it steadily advances

Up the rugged heights of time,
Till each complex web of trouble,
Every sad hope's broken bubble,
Hath a meaning most sublime.

More of religion, less of profession;
More of firmness, less concession;
In the church and in the state;
More of life and less of fashion;
More of love and less of passion;
That will make us good and great.

When true hearts divinely gifted,
From the clasp of error girded,
On their crosses are uplifted;

Shall the world most clearly see
That earth's greatest time of trial
Calls for holy servitude,
Calls on men to do and bear.

But forever and forever
Let it be the soul's endeavor
Love from hatred to discover,
And in whatsoever we do
Worship love's eternal beauty,
To our highest sense of duty
Evermore be firm and true.

—Stratford Herald.

A VICTIM OF DUTY.

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH OF LOUIS COELAS.

Ten have often seen him pass through the fields with a hasty step, recognizable not only by his blouse and his regulation hat, but also by the sustained activity of his movements, because for him the instants are counted and he has not the right to slacken his pace. An indefatigable walker, he accomplishes his task from the first to the last day of the year without ever resting. No matter though a tropical sun invades him, or though some storm steals through the cold air Siberian, though it blow and snow, he must go to the last village on his route to carry the letters, newspapers and prospectuses which trade confides by millions to the care of postmen.

The highways are not made for him; he must not cross the country, passing through woods and marshes, to seek the hut lost in the depths of the solitude, far removed from any public road.

He travels from eight to ten leagues daily, making circuits, crossing brooks, scaling rocks, venturing into ravines and wonning himself among the hedges and briars. Loitering is forbidden to him, for the official hour of return is fixed; the letters he brings back must depart by the next mail. They are waited for at the postoffice and the least variation of his programme may have grave consequences.

We cannot without ingratiation forget the services of this indefatigable messenger, whose bodily and moral are constantly put to the proof, who brings us our letters and our journals, the news, the expectation of which keeps us full of anxiety; who contributes to soften for us the bitterness of absence and distance. Imagine the void the disappearance of these humble functionaries would leave in our existence!

I knew a man who for twenty years killed himself. A former soldier, then a terrible robber, he was a perfect example of a life led by a little infamy, he had obtained the greatest favor of having pined to his credit fifty francs per month at the postoffice of the district.

Pere Martin was not very fond of this brilliant position, but perfectly understood his responsibility and duties; he never complained.

Everybody in the district was acquainted with this little gray-haired man with bronzed features, whose lines had the stamp of a hard life. He was highly appreciated for while a scrupulous observer of the regulations, he never refused to perform a service, provided it did not conflict with his principles.

There was not a corner of his route which he had not passed over, accompanied by his wolf dog. He knew to a meter the distance separating the smallest hamlet from the chief town of the district, and was familiar with all the paths by heart.

To spare him half an hour's walk he never would have thrown into a ditch some silly prospectus or some printed matter bearing a doubtful address; if he returned anything to the postoffice it was because its address could not be found. He was the slave of his orders, as punctual as the clock, as so discreet as to discourage the most curious. Everybody greeted him kindly, when he arrived at a village; the children came to him, and even the dogs barked joyfully at his approach. There was considerable rivalry as to who should offer him a glass of cider and a slice of bacon. But he rarely accepted anything. Time passed and he did not like to contract troublesome obligations.

Hence the notes made concerning him were excellent, and his chiefs regretted that the parsimony of the administration only permitted them to reward his loyal services with contemptible gifts.

One day in the middle of October he departed on an usual round. The weather was frightful; it had been raining incessantly for more than a week; the roads had become bogs and the brooks had been transformed into torrents; what foliage remained on the trees was so impregnated with water that it could not offer protection against the rain. The postman wet his feet, walked with the impossibility of an old soldier who does not discuss his orders.

He had distributed a portion of his mail, but his round was far from being finished when he passed an inn, or rather a miserable drinking-house, situated at the entrance of a wood; this place was mainly patronized by sabot-makers, who found there alcoholic drinks and a few groceries.

"Ho! Monsieur, the postman, stop here for an instant; while you are giving me the information I need, the violence of the storm will abate."

This invitation was addressed to him by a man who, with a pipe in his mouth, was standing upon the threshold of the drinking-house.

The rain was pouring down at that moment; a fierce blast swept it into Pere Martin's face, prevented him from walking, bent to the ground the写字的 tree.

The postman was a little ahead of time, and the demands of the service do not go so far as to forbid the acceptance of a momentary shelter when it offers itself under such circumstances.

He, therefore, went into the house and sat down beside the fire which crackled on the hearth. The man who had invited him to enter threw upon it some dry branches, which were soon in flame. A smoke arose from Martin's smoking garments.

The stranger interrogated the postman as to the hours of the departure of the mails, and asked him a host of questions about himself, his service and everything concerning it.

"You know me then?" said the postman.

"Parbleu! Everybody loves and esteems you here; Pere Martin's value is well known. I hope you will not refuse to drink with me. Ho! Madam Rosier, two glasses of your best brandy."

A woman waited on them and related to her companion.

"What a dog's trade you follow, Pere Martin!" said the man. "Will it take you much longer to finish your round? You doubtless have yet to go to the Land Grise, to Plessis. I know some one who is impatiently waiting for you there. I am obliged to pass in the vicinity. If you wish it I will relieve you of your letters."

"Thank you; I will deliver them myself."

"That's yourself out and out. After all you're right. It is your duty to deliver them."

While talking with a loquacity which did not encourage the postman he took up the sack the latter had placed beside him, seemed to feel its weight and turned it over and over.

"Let my sack alone, please," said Martin, coldly. "You have disarranged all my letters, I shall no longer know what to do."

The other humbly excused himself for his awkwardness.

"The evil is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?" said the man.

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

"Jean Bruno. It is not astonishing that you are unacquainted with him, for since his return to the district he has not publicly shown himself."

The postman was silent. He remembered having heard the woman at the drinking-house call the man he had met there by that name. He asked him in consternation if the letter had not been stolen from him, but he recalled it by name.

"The letter is irreparable," added he. "Seat yourself at this table, and we will have no trouble to arrange the letters according to the route you should take."

The postman emptied his sack before him, and began to arrange his letters. His questioner affected to keep discreetly at a distance, but found an opportunity to cast a furtive glance over that place, I tell you, Monsieur Martin, his last?"

"Who is this madame's name?"

The People's Press.

SALEM, N. C.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1881.

Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office at Salem, N. C.]

THE PEOPLE'S PRESS FOR 1881.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

$1.50 A YEAR.

The Press entered twenty-ninth (29th) volume on January 1st, 1881.

Now is the time to subscribe. It will be our endeavor to make the Press more interesting and entertaining than ever.

L. V. & E. T. BLUM,

Salem, N. C., Jan. 1, 1881.

A considerable portion of our space is occupied this week with the proceedings of the late Railroad meeting at Winston. No doubt a number of our readers will read the proceedings with much interest.

The late rains have been general.

Accounts of destructive floods, still heard from in the West.

Guiteau's trial has been set for the 14th of November.

Cumberland County Agricultural Fair begins at Fayetteville next week.

The Colored Industrial Fair was formally opened in Raleigh by Gov. Jarvis.

On the 26th ult., Baltimore elected the entire Democratic ticket for mayor and city council.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Tyner, has resigned, and Frank Hutton, of the Burlington Hawkeye, is his successor.

The cashier of the Mechanics' National Bank, of Newark, N. J., is reported to be a defaulter to the amount of $200,000.

The Washington grand jury has found three indictments against H. W. Howgate, the ex-disbursing officer of the signal service fund, for forgery.

A Southern journal says this year's rice crop in the Gulf States will reach one hundred and fifty million bushels. It is predicted that the rice industry will soon rival that of sugar growing in Louisiana.

Late estimates of the destruction done by the fires in the Michigan forest give 1,800 square miles of country burned over, with a loss of $2,346,000, on which there was about $624,000 insurance. Eight churches, 23 school houses, 130 stores and 1,147 dwelling houses were burned.

Matilda and Emma Williams, two young white girls, 15 and 17 years old respectively, on trial in the county court of Pittsylvania county, Va., for the murder of their father, Robert Williams, near Whitehill, in the above county, in September, have been acquitted, the evidence against them being insufficient.

Report reaches this place, says the Wilkesboro Witness, that a young man named Roberson, employed at the still-house of David Dancy in Alleghany county, was attacked by five men and by way of defending himself shot down three of them when the other two retreated.

On motion, it was agreed, pending such further examination, the meeting proceeded with business.

The Chair announced the President's Report was in order, whereupon President Barbour made his report.

On motion of Mr. Wiley, it was ordered that 250 copies of the report, with reports of the other officers of the company be printed.

Rev. C. H. Wiley offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That authority be conferred upon the President and Directors to issue bonds to an amount, not exceeding twenty thousand dollars per mile on the whole length of the road, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent. per annum, and to run for a period not exceeding 30 years after date, and to execute the necessary mortgage or deed of trust upon the property and franchises of the company to secure the payment of the same.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

J. W. Fries, Esq., offered the following:

WHEREAS, In order that the bonds of corporations subscribing to the road may be handled to advantage, it is desirable that they be placed in the hands of the Treasurer in bulk; therefore,

Resolved, That all towns, townships and counties, which expect to pay their subscription in bonds be called upon to hand over the full amount of said bonds at once, or to make cash payments to the amount called for by the Directors, viz: 35 per centum and hereafter as further installments may be called.

Resolved, That the Chief engineer be directed to discontinue all operations on the line until further ordered by the Stockholders. The funds in hand had been exhausted by appropriations to contractors and laborers, and the corporate subscriptions, both of Winston and Davie County, were not available as money to meet the estimates of the work. An installment of ten thousand dollars was paid in corporation bonds by Winston, which the Board of Directors was not able to negotiate at par, and the promised subscription of fifty thousand dollars by Davie County was deferred until a short time since, and the delay, consequent upon a preparation of their bonds, deprived the Company of any financial assistance from that subscription.

Resolved, That all towns, townships and counties, which expect to pay their subscription in bonds be called upon to hand over the full amount of said bonds at once, or to make cash payments to the amount called for by the Directors, viz: 35 per centum and hereafter as further installments may be called.

On motion of Col. Dillard, action on the resolution was postponed until next day.

On motion of Mr. Wiley, the Directors were authorized and instructed to locate the road its entire length.

On motion of Col. Alspaugh, the Chairman was instructed to appoint a committee of three to prepare and report by-laws to the meeting to-morrow. The Chair appointed on the committee Col. Barr, Morehead and Mr. Wiley.

On motion the meeting adjourned until to-morrow morning 9 o'clock.

Stockholders' Meeting N. C. Midland Railroad.

The first annual meeting of the Stockholders of the North Carolina Midland Railroad Company was held in the Railroad office, at Winston, N. C., Oct 25th, 1881.

On motion of Rev. C. H. Wiley, A. Leazer was called to the Chair, and G. W. Hinshaw was elected Secretary.

The Chairman appointed Messrs.

J. W. Fries, Joseph Vaughn and J.

Alspaugh a Committee to ascertain how much stock is represented.

During the investigation the Chairman called upon Col. Morehead to report the By-laws agreed upon by his Committee.

Col. Morehead reported in substance the By-Laws now in use by the North Carolina Railroad Company, and read the same. At the conclusion of the reading, the Committee on Stock made their report through Mr. Fries. Said report shows that a large majority of stock is represented in person or by proxy, and that the authorities of Davie County and of Mocksville, will proceed to comply with their obligation to pay their quota with other subscribers to the construction of the work, and relieve the embarrassment which their non-compliance has produced.

According to rule and practice, I have had monthly measurements and estimates taken, which at the schedule prices fixed in my report on the cost of constructing this road, and which prices were made full and ample to cover all contingencies when let to contract, are as follows:

3,687 cubic yards solid

Rock excavated $1.00 $3,687

9,621 cubic yards loose

Rock excavated 50 4,810.50

78,636 cubic yds earth

excavated 20 15,727.20

Clearing and culvert

masonry 4,00 1,496

Amounting to

$25,725.70

As your President and Capt. J. O.

Moore have been engaged in this construction outside of my own department, I am perfectly satisfied

subject to the condition before refe-

red to that the money shall be expended within their own county.

All of which is respectfully submitted by,

JOHN S. BARBOUR, President.

DIRECTOR'S MEETING.

At a meeting of the Directors of the N. C. Midland held on the 26th of the road was located to Mocksville, both of which are now outstanding, the Directors located at their April meeting the line of the Railroad through Davie to Mocksville, its county seat. It is hoped that the authorities of Davie

County and of Mocksville, will proceed to comply with their obligation to pay their quota with other subscribers to the construction of the work, and relieve the embarrassment which their non-compliance has produced.

According to rule and practice, I have had monthly measurements and estimates taken, which at the schedule prices fixed in my report on the cost of constructing this road, and which prices were made full and ample to cover all contingencies when let to contract, are as follows:

3,687 cubic yards solid

Rock excavated $1.00 $3,687

9,621 cubic yards loose

Rock excavated 50 4,810.50

78,636 cubic yds earth

excavated 20 15,727.20

Clearing and culvert

masonry 4,00 1,496

Amounting to

$25,725.70

As your President and Capt. J. O.

Moore have been engaged in this

construction outside of my own department, I am perfectly satisfied

subject to the condition before refe-

red to that the money shall be expended within their own county.

All of which is respectfully submitted by,

JOHN S. BARBOUR, President.

DIRECTOR'S MEETING.

At a meeting of the Directors of the N. C. Midland held on the 26th of the road was located to Mocksville, both of which are now outstanding, the Directors located at their April meeting the line of the Railroad through Davie to Mocksville, its county seat. It is hoped that the authorities of Davie

County and of Mocksville, will proceed to comply with their obligation to pay their quota with other subscribers to the construction of the work, and relieve the embarrassment which their non-compliance has produced.

According to rule and practice, I have had monthly measurements and estimates taken, which at the schedule prices fixed in my report on the cost of constructing this road, and which prices were made full and ample to cover all contingencies when let to contract, are as follows:

3,687 cubic yards solid

Rock excavated $1.00 $3,687

9,621 cubic yards loose

Rock excavated 50 4,810.50

78,636 cubic yds earth

excavated 20 15,727.20

Clearing and culvert

masonry 4,00 1,496

Amounting to

$25,725.70

As your President and Capt. J. O.

Moore have been engaged in this

construction outside of my own department, I am perfectly satisfied

subject to the condition before refe-

red to that the money shall be expended within their own county.

All of which is respectfully submitted by,

JOHN S. BARBOUR, President.

DIRECTOR'S MEETING.

At a meeting of the Directors of the N. C. Midland held on the 26th of the road was located to Mocksville, both of which are now outstanding, the Directors located at their April meeting the line of the Railroad through Davie to Mocksville, its county seat. It is hoped that the authorities of Davie

County and of Mocksville, will proceed to comply with their obligation to pay their quota with other subscribers to the construction of the work, and relieve the embarrassment which their non-compliance has produced.

According to rule and practice, I have had monthly measurements and estimates taken, which at the schedule prices fixed in my report on the cost of constructing this road, and which prices were made full and ample to cover all contingencies when let to contract, are as follows:

3,687 cubic yards solid

Rock excavated $1.00 $3,687

9,621 cubic yards loose

Rock excavated 50 4,810.50

78,636 cubic yds earth

excavated 20 15,727.20

Clearing and culvert

masonry 4,00 1,496

Amounting to

$25,725.70

As your President and Capt. J. O.

Moore have been engaged in this

construction outside of my own department, I am perfectly satisfied

subject to the condition before refe-

red to that the money shall be expended within their own county.

All of which is respectfully submitted by,

JOHN S. BARBOUR, President.

DIRECTOR'S MEETING.

At a meeting of the Directors of the N. C. Midland held on the 26th of the road was located to Mocksville, both of which are now outstanding, the Directors located at their April meeting the line of the Railroad through Davie to Mocksville, its county seat. It is hoped that the authorities of Davie

The People's Press.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1881.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Special Notice.—Persons wishing to have printing well done, will please call at the Press office. We can print as cheap as the cheapest.

PAY UP.

Those indebted to us will please settle up their accounts without delay. We need the money.

Farmer's and Planter's Almanac for 1882 for sale at Salem Bookstore.

Gus Rich returned from his trip, and will be off again in a few days.

We are pleased to learn that Miss Carmichael is convalescent.

Sheriff Fogle finished his second round for taxes on Monday.

Mr. McKinney, now occupies his new residence on Marshall street.

Quite a number of rose bushes in this place are yet in bloom and budding.

John H. McGee caught a large possum Tuesday night, weighing ten pounds.

Several nice lots of mountain cabbage were in town last week, and brought good prices.

We noticed snap beans in the market on Tuesday. They are seldom seen at this season.

Hail, in considerable quantity, in the Southfork settlement Monday evening.

Fine rains Saturday night, Sunday and Monday, making the ground a little too wet to plow.

Turnips are coming in market quite plentiful, and help the housewife in getting up a dinner.

A German sausage maker has located in Winston, and goes his daily rounds with fresh sausage.

A number of Germans arrived in this place on Monday night, and will work in Messrs. Fries' Arista Esgo.

The forest trees are slow in putting on their autumn garb. A few frosts though will change their appearance.

The Rockford mail carrier had his horse to die in this place one night last week from an over feed of new corn.

The bridge across the creek below town is undergoing thorough repairs. The timbers were so much decayed as to render it unsafe.

Mrs. Douthit has a large and splendid assortment of seasonal goods in her line to suit all classes. Call and examine her stock.

A woman kicked at her husband the other day, and missing him fell and broke her arm.—Ec.

Foolish woman. Where was the broom?

C. A. Hege, of the Salem Agricultural Works, has received letters of inquiry from Salt Lake City, Utah Territory, about his saw mills.

We learn that our young friend, Robert Carmichael, now engaged in a music store in Raleigh, will soon go to Charlotte to take a situation in a music store there.

The mammoth store, which for twenty-six years warmed the store-room of H. W. Fries, has been laid aside and a large new box stove put in its place.

If the amateur printers who occasionally visit our office, will keep their tongues still and look on more, they might learn something to their advantage in type setting.

A goodly number of relatives and friends met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. Vogler on Thursday of last week. They were honored with a serenade at night.

A negro man was lodged in the county jail on Tuesday charged with committing rape on a little girl 8 years old, in the neighborhood of Five Forks. We did not learn the names of the parties.

A pair of bantam chickens visited Shore & Co.'s store daily to be fed. If Uncle Traugott is busy when they come the cock sets up an incessant crowing to let him know they are about.

While most people are complaining of short crops, our friend, Ransom Sink, presented us with an ear of corn, surrounded by five nubbin, all growing together, making six ears on one cob.

If any person failed to get beef on last Saturday it was not because of its being scarce, as there were about a dozen wagons from the country, besides our regular butchers, on hand ready to supply all demands.

The last water melon of the season lay in Shore & Co.'s store for several days during the past week, but no one cared to invest and it was thrown on the street. Old man Henry Reynolds, (col.) missed a treat by not being about.

KOOGING STOVE.—Second hand cooking stove for sale. Enquire at the Bookstore.

J. Gilmer Kerner, (Reuben Rink) is putting the finishing touches on the late Dr. Shelton's new building. In a few weeks he will paint Stokes' Opera House, in Durham.

The Sentinel says that a Mr. Koonitz, of Davidson County, sold fifty-two pounds of tobacco for $55. It was selected from the second crop of tobacco ever raised by Mr. Koonitz.

PERSONALS.—W. T. Vogler has returned from his trip North.

Capt. J. R. Vogler is on a visit North.

After a pleasant visit of a week or more, Rev. W. A. Luttrell returned to his home in Rowan County.

Mrs. Fulkerston is at home again, accompanied by Miss Grace Wolfe.

Mrs. Leibert, of Nazareth, Pa., is visiting her brother, Rev. J. T. Zorn.

Mr. Harvey has returned to Brooklyn after a pleasant visit to Dr. Rondthaler.

Mrs. H. R. Lemly has returned from her visit to Washington City.

Miss Reid and Mrs. Dore, teachers of the colored school are here again. The school opened on the 1st inst.

A list of letters remaining in the Postoffice at Salem, N. C., Nov. 1, 1881:

Samuel J. Edwards, (care of Capt. S. M. Merrill), S. M. Foster, John N. Guy, Junius Wm. Howell, Junius Howell, Miss Coreena Lewis, Miss May Masden, Miss Sarah Morton, M. S. Merrill, Elizabeth Proctor, Miss Lou Reed, Mrs. R. S. Rights, (2), Mary G. Robbins, Miss Lizzie Stewart, Jno. Steward, Otto Slade, (care of M. S. Merrill), Miss Carrie L. Smith, Anna Yokeley.

H. W. SHORE, P. M.

Internal Revenue Collections, Fifth District, for the weekend Saturday, Oct. 29, 1881.

Monday $3,326 13

Tuesday 5,304 28

Wednesday 6,039 22

Thursday 2,727 14

Friday 2,750 62

Saturday 3,103 98

Total $23,251 36

MARRIED.

In Davidson County, by Jacob Yokely, Esq., at his residence, SANDFORD OSBORNE to Miss SARAH GREEN.

Also, Oct. 20, by Jacob Yokely, Esq., at his residence, LORENZO WYER to Miss ELIZA GARRISON,—all of Davidson County.

DIED.

At her residence in this place, on Oct. 23, at 104 o'clock, p. m., after a painful illness, Mrs. CORNELIA BLICKENDERFER, m. n. Ackerman, aged 26 years.

Never in the history of our town has a similar bereavement visited a family of our citizens. Within the space of a few short hours a loving daughter, a devoted wife, and a most affectionate mother, and a dear son and brother were called hence in the sure hope of a blessed immortality. Bound together in life by a peculiarly strong affection, in their deaths they were not long separated. It was said in the funeral discourse that this life is enabled to follow the footsteps of the departing soul so nearly to the dark river that rolls between mortals and immortals, as was the case with the relatives and friends who watched around Mrs. BLICKENDERFER's bedside. First came peace and calm, then gladness at the summons, and last anxiety to depart and be with that One who had held her up through the many days of her great sufferings.

Mrs. BLICKENDERFER leaves a husband and two little children, besides parents, brother and two sisters, and a large circle of friends to mourn her early death.

And the young man, her brother, after weeks of patient suffering and quiet, sincere preparation, when he felt his end approaching, prayed yet once more to Him who had been his staff and support through many hours of weakness, and then laid his hand down saying, "Now God's will be done," and so passed away.

Oh Death, where is thy victory. Oh Grave, where is thy sting.

The double funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large congregation of sympathizing friends. Dr. Rondthaler's excellent discourse was most appropriate and tears were in the eyes of many and in the hearts of all.

We extend to our bereaved friends the cordial sympathy of those who knew the worth and true goodness of the departed. May they be sustained in their double sorrow by the same Hand that lead their loved departed through the dark valley, across the rolling river, into the realms of everlasting joy and peace.

In Winston, on Monday morning, Mrs. I. W. DURHAM, after a short illness.

In this place, on Friday last, LOUISA MORSEHEAD, infant child of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fries.

With flowers alone we strew thy bed. Whose all of life, a rosy ray, Blest'd into dawn and pass'd away.

Resolutions of Respect to the Memory of Wm. R. Hedgecock.

On Tuesday, Oct. 11th, just as the sun was sinking to rest, the spirit of our friend and brother calmly and peacefully quit its mortal tenement and winged its flight to the God who gave it.

It was with sad hearts that we have to chronicle the death of one so esteemed, so beloved, and so useful in the church, in the prayer-meeting and in the Sabbath School; who was ever ready to do cheerfully his part of the Lord's work and whose heart and hand were ever open to the calls of beneficence. But as it hath pleased our heavenly Father, whose "ways are past finding out," to take from us our dear friend and brother, therefore.

Resolved, 1st. That we submissively bow to this dispensation of God's providence, feeling that though we know not now what His doeth, we shall know hereafter.

Resolved, 2nd. That our Sunday School has sustained a great loss in the death of its efficient superintendent, whose faithfulness and zeal we would not forget.

Resolved, 3rd. That we commend to the young men of the neighborhood the example of this pious Godly man.

Resolved, 4th. That to the wife thus early bereft, whose depths of sorrow none can fathom, and whose pangs of pain no word can soothe we would say, trust in God.

Resolved, 5th. That we extend to the aged father and mother, and to the bereaved family, our heartfelt sympathy, assuring them that we too feel the chastening hand.

Resolved, 6th. That a copy of these resolutions be inscribed to his memory on the Sunday School record, that a copy be sent the wife and parents of the deceased, and a copy be sent the Biblical Recorder and Salem Press for publication.

N. W. BEESON, II
H. C. PITTS, Com.
C. W. DAVIS, J.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

ALMOST YOUNG AGAIN.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use HOP BITTERS, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old.

We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family." A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

—PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

—At a recent concert, it was the subject of remark that in what in fine voice the singers were; in commanding his good judgment, the leader will pardon us for whispering that, he always recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for clearing and strengthening the voice.

SUNDAY READING.

A Whole Family in Heaven.
The following elegant passage is from the pen of Albert Barnes: A whole family in heaven! Who can picture or describe the everlasting joy? No one absent. Nor father, nor mother, nor son, nor daughter away. In the world they were united in faith, and love, and peace, and joy. In the coming of the resurrection they ascended together in infinite adoration. On the banks of the river of life they walk hand in hand, and as a family they have commenced a career of glory which shall be everlasting. Their hereafter is to be no separation in that family. No one is to lie down on a bed of pain; no one sink in the arms of death. Never, in heaven, is there a family to mourn along in the slow procession clad in the habiliments of grief, to consign one of its members to the tomb. God grant that in its infinite mercy every family may be thus united.

Religious Intelligence.

The oldest bishop in the Anglican church is Dr. Olivant, bishop of Llandaff, born in 1798, and consecrated in 1849.

Princeton Theological seminary has received a gift of $100,000 from a lady who does not wish her name to be published.

The Old or General Baptist denomination of Rhode Island, a body of twelve churches and about 1,200 members, recently held its 211th anniversary at Coventry.

It is said that there are at the present time 680 foreign missionaries in India, representing twenty-two missionary societies, an increase of sixty-seven since 1871.

The Scotch Free Church Presbytery of Bombay is small in the number of its members, but stretches over 600 miles of linear distance and covers a territory as large as Great Britain.

The next general council of the alliance of Presbyterian churches throughout the world will be held at Belfast, in June, 1880. The committee of arrangements is already at work.

Rev. Charles Shrimpton, a venerable local preacher of New York, now in his eighty-fifth year, has not missed a Sunday with the Bible class he teaches this year. He has been seventy years a Methodist.

Of 106 ministers of the Northern Presbyterian church who died last year, two were over ninety years old, nineteen were between eighty and ninety, thirty-five were between seventy and eighty, and fifty were under seventy.

The Baptist Theological seminary at Rochester has twenty-nine new students, five of them in the German department. The seminary of the Southern Baptists has sixty students, and expects others from the Indian Territory.

The new Protestant Episcopal diocese in Washington Territory, includes seven clergymen, eight churches and chapels, four parsonages, and a girls' boarding-school, with five teachers and sixty pupils. It takes from the diocese of Oregon something less than a third of its strength.

The Protestant Episcopal society for the increase of the ministry, received in the last year—its twenty-fifth—$34,840, and added $1,000 to the fund of the diocese of which it receives the rank of the ministry.

A large share of the income of the year has been added to permanent endowment funds.

The Congregational church of Stratford, Conn., which is not less than two hundred and thirty years old, has also celebrated its antiquity by the publication of a manual containing historical sketches of its sixteen former pastors.

It has furnished twenty-two men to the ministry, among them the Rev. H. S. Barnum, missionary in Turkey.

The California Methodist Episcopal conference has decided the family with which it agrees to be granted in the State, and has resolved that its ministers will not celebrate marriages for persons who have been divorced for other than the Scriptural reason, and in any case will not marry none but the innocent parties to the transaction.

Wonderful Inventive Faculty.

The news of the death abroad recently of Hamilton E. Towle recalls the bright career and remarkable achievements of the late Mr. John C. W. F. an engineer. Mr. Towle was a passenger on the famous Great Eastern during his memorable voyage across the Atlantic when she encountered a great storm, which broke her steering apparatus.

Her commander and crew could do nothing in the terrible emergency, and she lay practically helpless at the mercy of the waves. In this critical moment Mr. Towle carefully and with wonderful self-possession examined the broken machinery and righted up from the material at hand an apparatus of his own designing, which proved equal to the needs of the situation. The improvised rudder brought the great vessel safely in port, and the distinguished American received from the grateful passengers, who deemed their lives to have been saved by him, the gift of a superb gold watch, and with costly jewels, and several with presents and a gold chain commemorating his historical feat of engineering.

This time he was not so fortunate, and he had to dispense with the services of his own designing, which proved equal to the needs of the situation. The improved rudder brought the great vessel safely in port, and the distinguished American received from the grateful passengers, who deemed their lives to have been saved by him, the gift of a superb gold watch, and with costly jewels, and several with presents and a gold chain commemorating his historical feat of engineering.

The steel beads so popular in embroidery and passementerie last season have disappeared; the fancy is for dark colors, and rich embroidery, gaily contrasting stripes, or in gay millésime designs, are exhibited, which are to make very handsome yet durable dresses for school girls.

Square nautical looking collars of Oriental brocade, or plaided silk, with large bow knotted at the throat in sailor fashion, are very popular with stylish young girls.

Children's costumes, are, if possible, more picturesque and quaint than ever. The popular materials, plush and moire, enter largely into their composition, as do the figured damask silks.

Pink velvets are very fashionable, and stylishly set off with black silk stockings and embroidery, black satin sandals worked with jet beads, and long black gloves of kid.

Favorite materials in millinery are plush and beaver. Moire ribbons are the favorite ties, while feathers lead off in trimmings. Evening bonnets are made of crepe or white plush trimmed with long waving ostrich plumes.

The Paper Product.

It is estimated that nearly 2,000,000 pounds of paper is produced annually, one-half of which is used in printing, a sixth for writing, and the remainder is coarse paper for packing and other purposes. The United States alone produces yearly 100,000 tons of paper for its population. The Englishman comes next, with about twelve pounds per head; the educated German takes eight pounds, the Frenchman seven pounds, while the Italian, Spaniard and Russian take respectively three pounds, one and one-half pounds and one pound annually, the consumption of paper being roughly in proportion to the education and political activity of the people.

Over in Marblehead the men turned out and stoned a dog because he barked at a team, and our correspondent says "the dog was not mad at all." If Lynn dog had been stoned in that way he would have been hopping mad.—Popular Science Monthly.

Charles Bell, of Stroudsburg, Pa., has succeeded in making a boat from chemicals. After it had dried it was the first of kind known to have been made. The boat is fourteen feet long, eighteen inches wide, and "rides on the water like a dairy."

FOR THE LADIES.

Fascinated by Operas Singers.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, referring to the fascinating opera singers in their stage make-up have for susceptible and silly young women, and the unpleasant consequences often the result, writes: "In a fact, with one or two exceptions, all the best known singers are married men with families, and I do not know one of them who, in private life, could be called handsome; yet they all, even going outside the范围 of singers, are ugly, fat and with five children, and are inundated with love letters, bouquets and presents. The man who has the principle laugh at these epistles and destroy them—a good thing for the writer—but there are others, less honorable who do not hesitate to take advantage in various ways of these pretty little ninnies."

The correspondent then cites a number of instances, among them the following:

"The seventeen-year-old daughter of Dr. D. B. of this city, fell in love with a low-voiced baritone in the Mapleton company. Under an assumed name she wrote him gushing and romantic notes, and finally sent her photograph. The face was so lovely that it piqued the singer's curiosity, but it was in vain he pleaded for an opportunity to see it. Miss W. could only enjoy her letter in his parlor and ascertained his correspondent's name. Then he wrote to her under her real address, saying he had identified her, and she could take the choice of having her picture and notes back and giving him $200 in cash, or he would tell a reporter of the Police Gazette the story and have his photograph taken. There is little likelihood that such a request would have been carried out, but the girl was so terribly frightened that she sent him all the money she could scrape together, and the rest of the sum in jewelry."

"A case of boso infatuation is that of a daughter of an ex-senator, still prominent in Washington circles, who used to spend all her pin money in buying presents and baskets of flowers which she sent to Dr. D. B. When he received a letter from her father, he believed a great deal of it, and the young lady was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years. Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."

"A young lady who was sent to the Georgia convent, where she was educated for a couple of years, Dr. D. B. had given him $200 in cash, and he would be compelled to return it to him."